

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and system for enabling a product transfer transaction between a buyer and a seller. The method includes receiving via a communication network a product request from a buyer to obtain products from a remote seller, determining 5 an appropriate mailer to send to the seller for the seller to place the requested product in the mailer and send the mailer with the product to the buyer, and determining an appropriate postage amount to place on the mailer.

sf-1031960